SOUTH PARIS.
The Rose Carnival.
The Rose Carnival, given under the auspices of the Good Cheer Society, is in full swing and has been a success from the start. The sale began early Wednesday afternoon and was crowded with "sight-seers" and patrons. And it is a sight worth seeing if there ever was one. As you enter the hall, directly in front is the "Fancy Booth" with the name inscribed in gilt letters. This booth is decorated with white cloth around which red roses are strung and wide streamers of green and white crepe paper extend from the top of the booth to the corners to the center. On this table are displayed glass works (from the Crystal Palace in Norway), photo holders, handkerchiefs and various useful articles, while in connection with the booth and on a small table at one side are several large sofa pillows.

On the right is the ice cream booth, a sign in green letters announcing the fact that this favorite dish is on sale here. Beside this are fruit, jellies, pastry, etc., in an almost inexhaustible supply. The table is decorated with dark red and white crepe paper, and the booth is decorated with white back-ground and presents a very handsome appearance.

Passing down to the right between these tables we come to the apron table on which aprons of every description are to be found, big aprons, little aprons, aprons for the smallest child and largest woman, in fact, this idea runs through the entire fair, there is something for everyone.

Still further down on the same side is as handsome a booth as any in the hall. A wide border of evergreen extends around the top and both edges are formed with red and yellow roses. The upholders holding this are entwined with red and white crepe paper, while the main table, on which is displayed every thing from a parlor lamp to a work-basket, is covered with yellow cloth, decorated with red roses and loops of same.

On the left is the candy table of pure white. Over the center is a large bell of white roses in the evening this is illuminated with electric lights and presents a very handsome appearance.

Two "Christmas" trees covered with various articles stand on either side in front of the stage each surmounted by a gilded star and connected with the words "Armed with Trifles." Numerous other booths are passed on our "promenade" about the hall, no less handsome than the rest but it would take a book to describe them all or to attempt it. One of the most beautiful is a Japanese garden, where everything is strictly Japanese, from the draperies to the costumes of the ladies in charge. Numerous pictures of the same country adorn the walls and Chinese lanterns are hung at intervals about the booth.

Having seen the sights and wishing to rest a while you take any one of the numerous seats about the hall and a lady is at your side in a moment with refreshments of most delicious tea and crackers from the Japanese booth.

In the evening the booths and hall are lighted with electric of various colors and is even more beautiful than during the day-time. Hundreds of roses adorn the various booths and a prettier sight will not be seen here for some time to come, or until the next Rose Carnival.

The several booths and tables and the ladies who, with a number of assistants, will have charge of them are as follows: Candy table—Mrs. Carter. Fancy table—Mrs. Carter. Candy—Grace Thayer. Refreshment table—Mrs. Stanley. Apron table—Mrs. Shaw. Tea table—Mrs. H. E. Wilson. General table—Mrs. I. P. Evans. Mystery tree—Mrs. T. Thayer. Plant table—Mrs. Ellis Doble.

A handsome sofa pillow is on exhibition at the fancy table, the one guessing nearest its weight receives the pillow. At the friendship table is a doll all dressed. Buy a bag of popcorn, take a guess on the doll's name and if you guess correctly you get the doll. To the teacher receiving the largest number of votes will be given a silk quilt. A worsted quilt will be given to the person guessing nearest the number of beans in a jar. The child's quilt is also to be decided by vote. Every cent you spend at the fair counts one vote for your favorite and the child under five years receiving the largest number of votes gets the quilt. An autograph quilt was sold at auction Wednesday evening. A large bag of candy at the candy table is to be given to the one who comes the nearest to its weight in a guessing contest. All contests close this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock and the result of each will be announced after the drama.

Wednesday evening at 8.30 supper was served in G. A. R. Hall and a large number attended both from this village and from Norway. An orchestra furnished music during the evening at the Carnival.

This evening (Thursday) the drama, "Down East," will be presented by local talent and promises to be very good indeed. The program includes several specialties and music will be furnished by an orchestra. The following is the cast of characters for the drama: Ezekiel Fletcher, village postmaster and Justice of the peace.....Wirt Stanley Charles Desmond, the mail carrier, Lee Dunham Ralph Thorne, tourist.....Harold Briggs Jonas Desmond, Charles's uncle.....J. F. King Deacon Perkins, town constable as well as.....A. L. Holmes Will Wash White, of Southern ancestry.....George Spurr Elizabeth Fletcher, who keeps things moving. Better known as "Betty".....Mrs. Wirt Stanley Hannah Fletcher, Zeke's boss.....Mrs. Wirt Stanley Myra Bigelow, the village beauty.....Mrs. Geo. W. Frothingham Patience Bounds.....E. S. Jones

In a Carefully Prepared Article Recommends Dr. D. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

In a recent issue of the New York Magazine of Sanitation and Hygiene, the recognized authority on all matters pertaining to health, James H. Montgomery, M. D., says editorially:

"After a careful investigation of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, a specific for kidney, liver and bladder troubles, rheumatism, dyspepsia and constipation with its attendant ills, we are free to confess that a more meritorious medicine has never come under the examination of the chemical and medical experts of the New York Magazine of Sanitation and Hygiene. In fact, after the most searching tests and rigid inquiry into the record of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, it becomes a duty to recommend its use in unequivocal terms to every reader of this journal whose complaint comes within the list of ailments which this remedy is advertised to cure. We have obtained such overwhelming proof of the efficacy of this specific—have so satisfactorily demonstrated its curative powers through personal experiments—that a care for the interests of our readers leads us to call attention to its great value."

Written for the Advertiser. Ragtime.

You ask for a little "ragtime"—Not verse and an' song. Come listen to my ditty, I'll sing another song.

I'll not soar to Co. no more, I'll not share the fate of furies, Nor legends dark and old.

And I'll not speak in common Of how the spring is here, Of blossoms and of bees, That they will soon appear.

Nor dwell on dreary foibles, Nor legends dark and old, Of Apollo, god of love, Nor of Juno, tall and cold.

But as sadness without pleasure Or piddles without spice, Then I will give the substance While others give the spice.

I'll write a little wisdom, While they the fun may give. For how can I weave tapestry While there's no loom to give me?

And how can I write a ragtime "Thout native wit, you see? Of that which lies nearest The lips sing the refrain.

If sincerity lies anchored, Or thoughts light or profound. So we'll join hands together, Let another write the snow, Let me write a little wisdom After he is done.

HOME AND CHILD Does your horse "feel his rats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first, strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference. Children are not alike either. One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible. Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their rats". Scott's Emulsion adds just the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion. Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull children, puts new flesh on thin ones and red blood into pale ones. It makes children grow. Scott's Emulsion makes ordinary food do its duty. This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c and $1. all druggists.

HE FEARED HE HAD LOST

When Wu Ting Fang, the famous Chinese Minister to Washington, irritable and somewhat forgetful from a severe cold, missed one day from the front of his cap the immense diamond he always wears there, he was dreadfully frightened. A friend pointed out that the statesman had inadvertently dropped his turban wrong side before, and that the diamond was safe in the rear. Had Wu Ting Fang been wearing a Benson's Porous Plaster on his chest or back to cure his cold, he never would have doubted its location. He would have felt it doing its work, warming and making flexible the torpid muscles, extracting the pain and soreness, promoting the free circulation of the blood, stimulating the dissolving and banishing the maldy. Thus we perceive, beloved friends, that

THE BIG DIAMOND ON HIS HAT while a pretty thing to look upon, was of no practical use. But Benson's Plasters are supremely useful. They relieve the chest, rheumatism, neuralgia, colds on the chest, lame back, etc., so quickly and completely as to make you wonder how it can be. Better now—well to-morrow; that's the way they would. Get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each. Close of the March Term of the Oxford County Supreme Judicial Court.

The second jury were discharged, Friday, the 21st. The court continued to the action of the town of Andover vs. the town of Oxford. A warrant in 1898 was issued for the insane asylum from Oxford.

It was thought the husband had a settlement in the town of Andover, and after a little time Andover paid the bill till husband and wife gained a settlement in Oxford, and the Oxford municipal officers were called on to assume the liability. This they refused to do. It appeared that there was no record of the proceedings in Andover or of the petition and commitment to the asylum. The counsel for the town of Oxford urged that the town of Andover having voluntarily paid the expenses at the asylum, could not recover of the town of Oxford.

The case was directed that a non suit be entered. The case will be carried to the full court. Wright was the counsel for plaintiff, Hazen for the defendant.

The divorce case of Abbie A. Lander vs. Frederick H. Packard, Jr., was heard at Lander was sick with tonsillitis. It was agreed the hearing should be had at Portland on or before April 4. The libelee is paying $100 a month pending the divorce proceedings. The lawyers are Foster and Bishop.

Francis H. Packard, admr., vs. Lewis M. Mann. Entry was made neither party. This was a suit for damages where the administrator of the estate of Herbert E. Emmons brought an action against the town of Andover for damages for the death of his son, who was killed when Mann's steam mill at West Paris blew up. The damages were claimed at $5,000. WOMEN'S WOES. Hard for any woman to do housework—to attend to daily duties with a constantly aching back. Every woman should learn the cause of backache and the cure.

Doan's Kidney Pills relieve a bad back and cure it—cure every kidney and bladder disorder, from backache to diabetes.

Mrs. C. F. Goodnow, living at 143 Washington street, New Britain, Conn., says: "I gave a testimonial in December, 1899, to the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, and in the statement said that I had been bothered with my back and kidneys for over thirteen years, not constantly, but when I caught cold it generally settled in my back, making it lame and sore. Often the pain through the small of my back was so severe as to make me cry out. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and procured some from E. W. Thompson & Co.'s drug store, on Main street. They helped my back immediately, and in a short time relieved me of the trouble. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills at intervals during the last five years, when I felt an attack of backache coming on, and they always brought instant relief. I am never without them in the house."

Doan's Kidney Pills sold at all drug stores; 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Letter to C. F. Whitman.

Norway, Me.
Dear Sir: A lawyer's business is to know pretty much everything. Here's a part of it, well worth anyone's knowing. Devote lead and zinc is the paint that lasts twice as long as lead and oil. Our agent sells it under this guarantee: "If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it."
"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."
If you get your house painted with it, and it wears no better than most lead and oil, you will have good cause of complaint; and we must pay damages. This is the paint that looks as good, and wears twice as long, as lead and oil.

Yours very truly,
F. W. Devoe & Co.

Another Maine Poet.

Mrs. Jennie E. Snow Kimball, whose poems occasionally appear in the Advertiser, has been asked to write for a certain periodical. They advised her that they have copied some of her poems from other papers, and would be pleased to have her favor them with her poems. The products of her mind are certainly of a high standard, and show a purity of thought and purpose not excelled. Any one who enjoys sweet thoughts expressed in verse cannot fail to appreciate the fruit of her pen, and even a careless reader cannot fail to observe a strong poetic talent. Certainly the soil of Maine is doing its share in producing so many writers of sweet verse.

It has been said that many persons can make an entire breakfast on a cup of coffee. It is equally true that many hard-working women make an entire meal on bread and tea. In both of these cases, however, it must be assumed that the coffee and tea have lost none of their potency through adulteration or other impurity. We know from personal experience with Chase & Sanborn's high-grade coffees and native package teas what valuable food properties may be contained in each of these beverages.

N. H. S. Boys' Banquet.

"There was big doin's over to the hotel Friday night," when the first boys' banquet ever held in Oxford county and possibly in the State took place. This banquet was the result of the efforts of George Howe, who has been working the past winter in the school-boys' behalf, and the weekly lectures that have been given by successful local business and professional men at the high school room have been of great benefit to the young men now completing their studies and who must soon make a choice of their future life work.

A large number of young men and boys, about sixty in number, gathered about 9 o'clock at the Beal's hotel and after a social hour spent in the parlors entered the dining-room.

Beside the plate of each was a "button-hole bouquet" and in the centre of each of the two main tables was a large bouquet of callas, roses, pinks, etc., adding much to the already handsome appearance of the tables.

An excellent and bountiful repast had been provided and the enjoyment of this was only equalled by that of the after-dinner speeches of the older friends present and the younger ones as well.

"The menu was made up as follows and reflected great credit on the management:
Olive, Soup, Julienne. Rolls.
Boiled White Fish, Egg Sauce.
Shelled Beans, Mashed Potatoes, Lettuce, Heinz Orange Jelly, Sponge Cake, Chocolate Cake, Vanilla Ice Cream, Oranges, Bananas, Grapes, Butter Tins, Soda Biscuits, American Cheese, Coffee.

After the good things had been done justice to by all, Eugene Smith rose and said that as the president, Judge H. Davis, was unable to be present he had been asked to fill the vacancy. Col. Smith made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion and introduced A. J. Stearns as toastmaster.

Mr. Stearns said this was the first time he had filled the position but that he would do his best. He then spoke briefly on the future prospects of the boys and young men present, many of whom, he said, would probably leave their native country and perhaps State, but that no matter how far they went they would always think of the little village up among the Oxford hills as the best and dearest spot on earth. Mr. Stearns said that from the time he was sixteen until he became of age he taught the district schools in his native town and that during that time he thought boys were apparently made just to cut up and raise Cain, but as he grew older he came to see with a clearer vision the future possibilities of the American nation through the efforts, it rightly directed, of the rising generation.

Mr. Stearns then called on F. H. Noyes, one of the most successful business men in the two villages, to say a few words on "Boys and Girls." Mr. Noyes started in well on the subject by saying he liked the boys but he liked the girls better, and didn't blame the boys for holding the same opinion either. This he followed with a good practical talk on what the future held in store for all who strive to reach the high standard of "Success," and he expressed best wishes for their future welfare and prosperity.

William C. Leavitt, who has followed with a good practical talk on what the future held in store for all who strive to reach the high standard of "Success," and he expressed best wishes for their future welfare and prosperity. Leavitt responded to the sentiment, "What makes a man of a boy?" Mr. Leavitt prefaced his remarks on the subject by saying he was a friend to every boy in town and then asked and answered the above question. He said "It is not his age, as some boys never become men, that is, never take the responsibilities of manhood, either through inability or disinclination, and continue to reason with a boy's reasoning or none at all; nor experience, for some never profit by it; every failure of their effort is laid to any cause but that of their own incompetence. Marriage only makes them worse off as it is in their case two children starting together in life instead of one, with no desire or ability to accept the responsibilities of such action. A boy becomes a man when he takes up the responsibilities of a man."

Mr. Leavitt said he knew a boy when he was learning his trade, who, when he was but twelve years of age lost his mother and as his father was in very poor health, he was almost the sole support of the family consisting of two little brothers and a sister, his father and himself. He bought, sold and traded, did everything in his power to earn an honest dollar. Finally he started a small store, a very small one, and made a success of it. In fifteen years he built a large and handsome store and is now counted as one of the strong men, financially, of New Hampshire. This boy, said Mr. Leavitt, was a man from the start, first he supported the family in comfort in the luxury and he had the responsibilities of a man since he was twelve years of age.

Frank Kimball responded to the sentiment, "What interests the youth." A pleasant surprise awaited those present in the response as Mr. Kimball replied almost entirely with an original poem and parodies on several poems he learned in his younger days, illustrating the difference in the dispositions of the youths and the variety of things they can do to interest them. He said that as a boy he would go many miles to play in an old brass band. "Blowing wind" had been principally of interest to him and he had not got over it yet. Mr. Kimball closed his remarks by saying he was sure that all approved what Mr. Howe had done and what he was "now" doing. Mr. Howe was smoking, something Mr. Kimball had not noticed before adding the last clause to his sentence. Before resuming his seat Mr. Kimball proposed that the business men drink to the "Boys of Norway," and this was done amid the applause of some fifty odd young men present.

Several boys were called upon for toasts. Vivian Akers spoke on "Inebriation" and was followed by Winfield Kimball, Robley Morrison, Clark True, Carl Stone and Freeland Morrison. Dr. Bartlett said the toastmaster had agreed not to call on him to speak that evening but had not kept his word, and as he had been asked he would say a few words. Mr. Bartlett then said that he thought a cleaner class of boys could not be found in the county than those of Norway and he had an acquaintance with most of them when he was superintendent of schools a few years ago. In closing he wished all present a pleasant and successful future and said that if they took each one a chosen calling and followed that one pursuit they certainly would reach a high place among their fellows in the business world.

He who seeks one thing in life, and but one, may hope to achieve it before his life is done. But he who seeks all things wherever he goes, only roams from the hopes, which around him he sows.

A harvest of barren regrets.
The acting president, Col. E. F. Smith, spoke on "The future of America." Col. Smith reviewed the past history of the country and made a very patriotic address on the future possibilities of the country and the coming citizens.

As a fitting climax to the evening's program a few remarks were made by the author of the banquet, and one who has done more, disinterestedly, for the instruction and entertainment of the boys of Norway than any other man, George R. Howe.

Mr. Howe said "I have but few remarks to offer but what I shall say would be from the boys' standpoint the most appropriate remarks of all. I move that a vote of thanks be extended to the presiding officer and to the toastmaster for their efficient services and to the other speakers who have addressed us so entertainingly and instructively. In token of our appreciation of their efforts I propose three cheers."

The cheers were lustily given and this closed the evening's program.

The general thought which was carried through the evening was to impress the boys that very soon they must come into active service in the world and take the place of the men now on the stage of action, and this was very forcibly put forth by these same men who are to leave the place for them.

Those present were as follows:

A. J. Stearns, Wm. C. Leavitt, E. L. Bartlett, F. R. Taylor, F. P. Smith, William Horne, Ned Burnell, Jameson Finney, Arthur P. Haywood, Harry A. Packard, Harrison S. Mann, Don S. Smith, Winfield A. HOW TO STOP RHEUMATISM

That rheumatism is in the blood is all well aware, but that it settles in different parts of the body, and affects the flesh, tissues, and muscles, no one will dispute. Primarily, rheumatism may be in the blood, but secondarily becomes almost a local affliction, inasmuch as it gives pain on the surface as well as under the skin. It inflames the tissues, and twists, bends, and stiffens the fingers and toes. The more it shifts its outward applications, the more it relieves the pain shows clearly that the internal as well as external treatment is needed to successfully combat the disease. Minard's Liniment, applied externally, goes right to the pores of the skin, and stops the rheumatic or neuritic pain the instant it touches the inflamed parts. First, the affected part with hot water. Then apply the Liniment. When it is finally, it relieves the inward distress, drives the poisons out of the blood.

If you believe in humanity relief, write your letter to—
LYONS, KANSAS, March 28, 1902.
Gentlemen:—I desire to certify to the fact that my wife received from the use of Minard's Liniment, which she received the last of January, relief from her rheumatism, which she had been so long to her feet, which were so sore and stiff, that she could not walk, and had been so long time. In a week's time she was all gone, and continues to be well, and she is now able to do her own work, and they were cured. Under God, we feel grateful to Him who has so mercifully relieved our suffering. We have used the Liniment once only; it has cured us. Very truly yours,
L. W. WING.

You can get the same Minard's Liniment that was sent to Mr. Wing, now will have just as good results with it. It's only twenty-five cents for a bottle at all druggists.

An Interesting Little Book.
The "Fryeburg Webster Centennial" is an illustrated pamphlet of 90 pages, published by A. F. Lewis of Fryeburg, and giving an account of the celebration in that town last January, of the coming of Daniel Webster to Fryeburg 100 years before to take the principality of the Fryeburg Academy. It contains the addresses, poems and unpublished letters of Washington, Adams and Jefferson, written to preceptor Cook, and other matter of local interest.

Among the illustrations is one of Daniel Webster in early manhood; the old Oxford House where he made his home while in Fryeburg; the Alumni House. There is Webster's store account from the ledger of John and Robert Bradley. It is from Jan. 9 to Sept. 3, 1802, and amounted to $38.59. Besides teaching, Webster wrote for the register of deeds evenings. In this way he earned the two dollars a week that paid his board. The result of these labors may be seen in the first volume of the Record of Deeds of Oxford county. Daniel Webster stayed in Fryeburg only till September 1802.

One of the things he did for Fryeburg was to draft a subscription paper for money to be used in the purchase of tickets in some public lottery. The money drawn as prizes was to be applied for the support of a school of instruction for young ladies in music and painting, and was to be a branch of Fryeburg Academy. It seems that the tickets were $5 each and Daniel Webster heads the list with $5. Others followed till $95 was the sum raised, the amount drawn, $236.

TONIKO-TEA

CURES INDIGESTION.

A Hearty Meal

is one that you enjoy every bit from start to finish and afterwards. To eat hearty and have your food do you good is as much a part of life's happiness as to be free from disaster; to eat hearty meals means perfect health.

Through the abuse of our prerogative of eating and inattention to the proper sorts of food many of us have gotten our stomachs into a pitiable condition. Nothing tastes good; what we do eat sets like lead and the period after eating is one of discomfort and pain. Something is needed to restore things to their normal condition; something that will permanently correct and more than relieve; something to make every organ in the stomach respond quickly and rightly to the work-call; a remedy that does this will cure indigestion.

TONIKO-TEA does all this and more; it puts the stomach in a condition so that the food you eat digests properly and nourishes.

Can Eat Anything.
TONIKO REMEDY Co., Waterville, Maine.
Dear Sir,—I have been troubled with constipation for about ten years and was so bad that I could not eat scarcely anything, and tried nearly everything until at last I got discouraged. I saw one of your pamphlets and thought I would try Toniko-Tea, and I cannot use words enough to express the help I have got from taking Toniko-Tea. I rest better nights and have a good appetite and can eat most anything without distressing me.
Yours very truly,
Mrs. G. H. COLE.

I would advise all to try it who have palpitation of the heart or indigestion or are troubled with constipation.
Yours truly,
Mrs. JAMES M. ELLIOTT.

Harrows, etc.

The National Standard Fire Extinguishers are generally admitted to be the best. I am selling them. You cannot afford to risk your life and the lives of your family and animals, your home and your property without one or more of them placed where they can be reached readily in case of fire or lightning or any other cause. They are better than a gun to turn a burglar that may get into your house.

I am still selling the U. S. Separators. They have been improved in construction and capacity and are better than ever. I intend going among the people on my territory soon, to show them the merits of this machine.

I shall handle Lister's Fertilizers this year as usual and shall be glad to supply my neighbors as in the past. We are selling Grain and Flour very low. If you want any kind of a Harrow come and see me.
